

February 2, 2003 -

OMNITEK SUBSIDERERY RECEIVES ORDER FROM LARGE CHINESE ENGINE MANUFACTURER

Sinology, a wholly owned subsidiary of Omnitek Engineering, Corp., has entered into a contract with one of the largest engine manufacturers in China, to become an OE supplier of electronic engine management systems and has received the first order in excess of $ 1,000,000.

Under new regulations, most vehicles sold in China must be equipped with closed-loop electronic fuel injection and comply with EU2 emission standards. The engine management system has received full certification for use on the 6102 engine used in trucks and buses.